REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

men to work for the insertion of a plank in the Republican platform declaring for state wide prohibition by legislative enactment.

Furthermore, be it resolved that we pledge the delegates elected at this primary to work for the nomination of candidates on the Republican ticket who are bonafide prohibitionists and who will exercise their influence for the enactment of a law that will honestly and strictly prohibit the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors within this state."

The Logan City primary was the center of attraction, having proved to be about the niftiest drama that has occupied the boards for some time. For days preceding the appointed hour, there had been much hot footing it here and there, but holding of political friends, church men, and laymen, together with rumors of slates, combinations, and monopolies. Early in the week the Prohibition and Betterment League of Utah, forwarded circular letters to the officers of the Betterment League at Logan, wherein instructions were given to decide on delegates before the night of the primaries, to have type written ballots containing names of the delegates decided upon and when voting time arrives have the votes dropped into a hat or ballot box, to "have someone appointed to nominate delegates," together with other instructions concerning tellers, judges, resolutions, adjournments, etc. It was freely predicted that in all probabilities the court house would not be large enough to hold the primary and in anticipation of such a condition the use of the Tabernacle was secured in advance.

When the appointed hour arrived it developed that the court room was not nearly large enough to hold the crowd, and Chairman Harris at once ordered the removal to the Tabernacle. Everything was soon in order at the Tabernacle, and at about 8:30 over four hundred people had assembled and during the numerous ballots that were taken from 200 to 300 people participated.

From conclusions drawn from the Betterment League letter, and acting upon inspiration therefrom, a number of citizens, feeling that there would be a slate or a number of slates in evidence, got together and arranged a suggestive printed ballot containing the name of one delegate from each district and five delegates at large. When these ballots were distributed an attempt to discredit this move, so common throughout the state, was made by a combination who apparently had agreed upon a secret slate. One gentleman criticized it in a nominating speech for a delegate. Others criticized it in conversation with friends and not until Mr. George B. Hendricks made the statement that it appeared perfectly evident that the only difference between the printed slate and the other slate was that one was in the open and the other under cover, did criticism change to commendation. The great crowd in an instant caught its meaning, and from the generous applause that followed it was clearly manifest that the majority preferred the system that was plain, fair, and in the open, in preference to one that was in the dark and held "up your sleeve" until ready to use. From 8:30 until 11:30 the balloting went on, the "visible" arrayed against the "invisible" and when the last delegate had been elected the supporters of a "visible government," scored an overwhelming victory resulting in the election of a representative and satisfactory delegation.

Throughout the entire proceedings perfect harmony prevailed. City Chairman, M. C. Harris presided, and Asa Bullen was secretary. Mr. Harris was roundly applauded when he remarked that the large crowd assembled together with the spirit manifested, insured victory at the poles in November.

Some little spirit between the Congressman Howell forces and the Judge H. A. Pederson forces seemed to maintain throughout the proceedings, but when sifted to the bottom it appears that these two gentlemen are not in any sense political rivals, but on the other hand are the very best of friends. The Howell forces elected a very large majority of the Logan delegation as well as the county delegates. When asked for an expression of opinion, Judge Pederson came through with his regulation happy smile, saying: "Boys everything is fine," and when asked what his predictions were concerning his nomination for Secretary of State, said "Of course, I expect the delegation from Cache county." The following delegates were elected:

District 1—J. C. Allen.
District 2—Ollie I. Pederson.
District 3—F. A. Hinckley.
District 4—C. P. Cardon.
District 5—Joseph Quinney.
District 6—O. H. Budge.
District 7—Herschel Bullen Jr.
District 8—Dr. George Thomas.
District 9—H. E. Crockett.
District 10—J. R. Morton.
Delegates at Large—George B. Hendricks, Albert A. Law.

Additional Delegates at Large for the Congressional Convention—Jos. Odell, O. W. Adams, William H. Thain.
The following county delegates were elected:

Richmond—State, J. C. Allen Sr., T. H. Merrill, Clarence Funk; Congressional, A. A. Thomas.
Trenton, Cornish—State and Congressional, A. T. Peterson.
Clarkston—State and Congressional, Thomas Godfrey; Alternate, Garret Dahle.

At Wellsville a resolution was passed endorsing Congressman Howell and pledging the delegates to vote for his nomination.

Hughes Given Warm Praise By Roosevelt

New York, July 31.—"It was an admirable speech and I wish to call attention to the following points," said Colonel Roosevelt, in a statement issued after the Hughes notification meeting:

"I am particularly pleased with the exposure of the folly and worse than folly of Mr. Wilson's Mexican policy and of the way in which his policy has brought humiliation to the United States and disaster to Mexico itself.

"Moreover, I am very glad of the straightforward manner in which Mr. Hughes has shown the ridicule with which Mr. Wilson has covered this nation by the manner in which he allowed foreign powers to gain the impression that although he used the strongest words in diplomacy, they were not to be taken seriously.
"Mr. Hughes also speaks in characteristically straightforward fashion of the outrages committed on munitions plants and all men, whether citizens of foreign nations, or nominal citizens of our land, who had in any shape or way abetted or condoned those actions, can understand that Mr. Hughes, if President will protect these domestic ammunition interests and punish offenders against them with the fearlessness and thoroughness that he showed in dealing with the powers of evil at Albany.

"Just before coming in to listen to Mr. Hughes' just characterization of Mr. Wilson's failure to protect the lives and property of Americans in Mexico and on the high seas, I happened to look up John Fiske's Critical Period of American History, and was struck by the following two sentences:

"A government touches the lowest point of ignominy when it confesses its inability to protect the lives and property of its citizens.

"A government which has come to this has failed in discharging the primary function of government and forthwith ceases to have any reason for existing.

"Mr. Hughes has pointed out in his speech with self restraint but with emphasis that it is precisely this primary function which Mr. Wilson's administration has failed to discharge and that it is precisely this point of ignominy to which he has reduced the nation over which he is President."

In Case of Burns.
The best immediate application for a burn or scald is carron oil. This preparation of equal parts of linseed oil and lime water should be kept always at hand when there are young children about. When a child receives a burn or scald, shake the bottle of carron oil thoroughly, then saturate some lint, gauze or muslin with it and put on the burned surface. Clean olive oil or vasoline are good substitutes for the carron oil—DeLineator.

GREATLY IMPROVED
Mrs. Mater—Have you seen Mr. Dater's son since he got home from college?
Daughter—Yes, ma; I saw him last night.
Mrs. Mater—Has he improved very much?
Daughter—Awfully. He's got a mustache.
